

Did you know...

Children's writing skills develop over time and each at their own rate. Skills typically develop in this order:

- ✦ Random scribbles
- ✦ Controlled scribbles
- ✦ Drawing to communicate
- ✦ Writing to tell a story – as told to an adult
- ✦ Letter-like forms to tell a story
- ✦ Creative spelling – they spell words how they think they sound
- ✦ Correct spelling and writing of words

Encourage your child to write for a variety of different purposes.

Here's how...

- ✦ Writing thank you notes or describing an activity are fun ways to start. These can be written in an email or stamped letter.
- ✦ Ask your child to create lists that will help them or the family. They can make lists for:
  - Going to the grocery store
  - Errands to run
  - Tasks that need to be done inside or outside the house
  - Gifts they would like to be given for special occasions
- ✦ Collect materials for your child to use as they practice writing, such as paper, envelopes, and writing tools. Create a special place for these writing materials, such as a drawer or box.

Click, Clack, Moo: Cows that Type, by Doreen Cronin

In this Caldecott Honor story the cows on Farmer Brown's farm find an old typewriter and begin typing demands. Not only will young children find humor and delight in the antics of the farm animals, they will see the power that written words can have.

Choose Books

Books that develop awareness of print:

- Books with lots of punctuation marks
- Books with signs, lists, labels, menus, charts, instructions, etc., as part of the illustrations
- Books in which characters are using print in different ways, such as writing a letter or making a checklist
- Books with speech or thought bubbles
- Recipe books

Talk

Children this age often don't know how to spell the words they want to write. Instead of telling them how to spell the word, you can help them become stronger writers by asking them what sounds they hear, and ask what letter or group of letters might make that sound. It's ok if they aren't exactly perfect. If children become too anxious about the need to spell words correctly at this age, it can prevent them from being creative or wanting to write longer sentences or stories.

Write

Children can practice the power of writing by helping you make grocery or "to do" lists, writing invitations, greeting cards and thank you notes, etc. They can print by hand or type on a computer. They can even use an old typewriter!

Play

Homemade Bingo Boards

You can make your own Bingo boards at home, using words your child can begin reading on their own, such as family names, colors and numbers, shapes, or words suggested by their teacher.

You can draw out the boxes with a ruler, or use the internet to search for a free Bingo card maker. Use pennies, cereal, or other small objects to cover the words when they're called.

The Animal Fair

I went to the animal fair
The birds and the beasts were there,
The big baboon by the light of the moon
Was combing his auburn hair.
The monkey bumped the skunk,
And sat on the elephant's trunk;
The elephant sneezed and fell to his knees,
And that was the end of the monk!
The monk!

At your library...

Electronic books and audio books: Screen time for young children should be limited; however, reading an occasional picture book with your child on your device is one way to enjoy more great stories together. Or skip the screen—listening to audio books develops important early literacy skills. Ask your library about e-books and audio books available for checkout.
